EDITORIAL

Jack Dacey

I don't want to hear any crying; you haven't heard from me for a while. I'll keep this short I have noticed an encouraging trend lately. Attendance and participation at our meetings are growing. The first year at Brewster Ambulance went well in spite of Florida hot weather and being our first year. Maybe just maybe the message is getting out. We are getting back to our motto, "having fun with cars". We seem to be pushing forward. A new member has shown interest in joining, our discussions about what we want to do are calm and productive. I just wanted to draw attention to these points and say it looks like we might be on the right track.
